Biography

Welcome, and thank you for taking a moment to visit my page.

My name is Kevin Maurice, and I've spent more than two decades of my life in and around this game—as a player, a coach, a mentor, and a lifelong student of football and leadership. I currently serve as a college football coach, working primarily with running backs and recruiting, but at the heart of what I do is something bigger than plays, stats, or depth charts: helping young men grow into disciplined, confident, and grounded leaders in life.

I grew up in Miami in a Haitian-American family where faith, hard work, and resilience weren't slogans—they were survival tools. That upbringing shaped how I coach and how I treat people. Whether I'm in a meeting room, on the practice field, on the road recruiting, or talking with a parent, I try to bring honesty, consistency, and genuine care to every interaction. My goal is always the same: build real relationships, tell the truth with love, and help people get a little better every day.

If you're a prospective student-athlete or parent, I want you to know this: I see you as more than a number or a highlight tape. I care about your character, your academics, your family story, and your future after football. This game can open doors and create lifelong memories, but it's who you become through the process that matters most. I'm passionate about creating environments where players are pushed, supported, and held to a high standard—on the field, in the classroom, and in the community.

If you're a fellow coach, colleague, or friend in the profession, I'm always open to connecting, sharing ideas, and learning. This profession has given me incredible mentors and opportunities, and I believe strongly in paying that forward—whether that's swapping film, talking culture and scheme, or just checking in on life.

Thank you again for stopping by. I hope this page gives you a small window into who I am, what I value, and how I try to serve the young men and programs I'm blessed to be a part of. If our paths cross, I look forward to shaking your hand, hearing your story, and hopefully building something special together.

Statement

Welcome! I'm grateful you're here. Everything I do is about serving others, building authentic relationships, and helping people grow. I hope this page gives you a clear feel for who I am, what I value, and how I work. Thanks for taking the time to visit.

PRINCIPLES

• My guiding principles as a sports professional are simple: lead with integrity, serve others, and relentlessly pursue growth. I believe in demanding discipline while always honoring the person behind the player. Relationships, clear standards, and accountability drive everything I do. If I can help an athlete leave better as a person, student, and competitor, then I’ve done my job.
